BYE, BYE DISCUSSION BOARDS

Hello, active learning communities.

Welcome, and we look forward to partnering with you in service of building learning communities, supporting student outcomes and improving student & faculty satisfaction. This short resource guide is for Teaching & Learning Professionals who may be new to the Yellowdig platform.

Creating Community with Yellowdig

What is the Yellowdig Platform?

Yellowdig is a digital platform that leverages a deep understanding of human behavior and gameful learning technology to build active learning communities in support of positive academic outcomes.

Where is Yellowdig Creating Communities?

Yellowdig is primarily used in curricular settings, and is increasing student engagement in face-to-face, online, and hybrid modalities. Yellowdig communities can also work great in faculty spaces or other specialized cases.

Does Using Yellowdig Impact Curriculum Design?

Yellowdig can replace prompted discussion boards. At Yellowdig, we thrive in communities where learning takes place through organic course relevant conversations.

How can I support Faculty and Students?

Our Client Success team is here for you! Our team is staffed with experienced college and university instructors who can work with you in a variety of ways:

Yellowdig Workshop Sessions

- Ramp up instructional design staff with our pedagogy and technology
- Monthly "Office Hours" Question and Answer sessions
- Introductory Faculty/Staff Workshops
- One-on-one consultations with instructional designers or instructors
- Guest Webinars featuring instructor experiences
